Class of 2026/27

MSc in Criminology and Criminal Justice

www.law.ox.ac.uk

Introduction

I am delighted, as Director, to welcome the 2026–27 MSc cohort to our graduate community. This is a significant year for the Centre for Criminology. Our new students join us as the 25th cohort of the MSc programme, and during the same year we celebrate the Centre's 60th anniversary. They are joining a Centre that is committed to innovative research and teaching and to engaging with problems of crime, harm and justice across the globe. This year's cohort join us from around the world and from a range of professional and disciplinary backgrounds – united by their academic achievements, intellectual curiosity, and commitment to shaping a better world. I warmly welcome our new students to the Centre's vibrant and collegial community of staff, students and alumni, and I look forward to the year ahead.

Rachel Condry

Director, Centre for Criminology

About the programme

We would like to extend a warm welcome to our MSc Criminology and Criminal Justice students for 2026–27. We hope you find your year with us to be intellectually stimulating and creative, as well as welcoming and fun. You will have the opportunity choose from a wide range of options including on policing, sentencing, prisons, crime and the family, security, border control and qualitative and quantitative research methods, among others. Alongside these options you will take a set of core classes designed to introduce you to key criminological theories and the criminal justice system as well as to modes of data gathering and analysis. It's a busy, fast-paced course, which you will end with new skills and new friends. We look forward to the year ahead.
