PHILOSOPHICAL FOUNDATIONS OF MEDICAL LAW

Edited by Andelka M. Phillips, Thana C. de Campos, and Jonathan Herring

30% OFF!

November 2019 (UK) | December 2019 (US)
£80.00 £56.00 | $110.00 $77.00
Hardcover | 9780198796558 | 368 pages

With advances in personalised medicine, and now precision medicine, the field of medical law is being challenged and transformed. The nature of the doctor-patient relationship is shifting as patients simultaneously become consumers. The regulation of emerging technologies is being thrown into question, and we face new challenges in the context of global pandemics. This volume brings together leading philosophers, legal theorists, and medical specialists to discuss these questions in two parts. The wide range of perspectives and topics on offer provide a vital introduction to the philosophical underpinnings of medical law.

FEATURES

- Identifies key questions and issues underlying the philosophy of medical law and provides a point of entry into cutting-edge research in the field

- Includes contributions from leading legal, moral, and political philosophers and medical law specialists offering a range of perspectives on theoretical problems at the core of medical law

- Offers expert analysis of complex medical and ethical issues including the rise of personalized medicine, and now precision medicine, Big Data, and the Quantified Self movement, (including personal genomics), as well as other consumer focused services

Andelka M. Phillips is Senior Lecturer at Te Piringa Faculty of Law, University of Waikato and a research associate at University of Oxford's Centre for Health, Law and Emerging Technologies (HeLEX). Thana C. de Campos is Assistant Professor at Pontificia Universidad Catolica de Chile. Jonathan Herring is the DM Wolfe-Clarendon Fellow in Law and the Vice-Dean and Professor of Law in the Law Faculty at Oxford University.

OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS